Why Device as a Service (DaaS) is in-demand?

The DaaS model offers businesses greater flexibility and lower cost, AND can help you out pace your competition.

For businesses, there seems to be a great deal of upside to Device as a Service (DaaS). Using the DaaS model means that organizations can refresh devices more quickly, upgrade to new technologies more easily and won't be saddled with the responsibility of managing and maintaining devices in the first place.

How it Works:

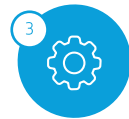

Discover and Design

Clarity will gain an understanding of your current state and objectives and design a solution that fits the needs of your business and its users.

Deploy

Clarity's trained technical team manages everything from delivery logistics to implementation setup and user training.

Configure

Save time and increase productivity with services that include virtual implementation, labeling and tagging devices, and tailoring factory settings to support your unique way of doing business.

Dispose and Refresh

At the end of a device's life-cycle, Clarity will refresh with the latest technology products, recycling old devices so you don't need to deal with disposal.

Maintain

You'll receive instant updates and ongoing feature enhancements throughout the life-cycle of your system. Ensuring your software is always current and secure.

Optimize

Clarity's User Experience Consultants recommend ways to modify and optimize your system to turn your system into a competitive advantage.
